

Online Hate Prevention Institute

OHPI is Australia's only national charity dedicated to reducing the risk of harm resulting from online hate.

Focusing mainly on social media, we tackle racism, xenophobia, cyberbullying, misogyny, homophobia, religious vilification, antisemitism and other forms of online hate.

We improve systems and work to make online hate as unacceptable as real world hate.

Fight Against Hate

Fight Against Hate aims to bring transparency to how social media companies respond to reports of hate speech.

- Users can report content from Facebook, YouTube and Twitter
- Teams can work together
- Reported items can be seen by OHPI and supporting organisations (NGOs, Government & Researchers)
- Fight Against Hate is a central collection point empowering the public and civil society to tackle online hate

It currently has the support of 36 organisations, and more are encouraged to join to take a stand against online hate.
